gations. Not only have these men their individual obligation to use their great power constructively, but America, behind them, has a public obligation. For their great power is not personal. It is America's. It is not that they are the two greatest men in the worldthere are plenty as great in Europe-but that they represent the only great unimpaired national resources in the world. When Britain had these resources, they capitalized the rapid development of America, and we welcomed them. The dividends and interest, and to America in material progress. THERE ought to be, also, a mut- year. ual obligation of the spirit. Unmoment, so accepts it. There is reaction in America, and resentment in Europe. We are farther away than ever from joining the League of Nations, and there is even a noisy though futile, agitation to take us out of the World Court. Especially, there is widespread cynicism about Europe, and a disposition to "mind our own business." Since the "business" in question is inextricably entangled with Europe, it can not be done, but this does not prevent us from feelinv like doing it. And Europe is resentful of America, partly because we are rich and supposed to be upstart and vulgar; partly because we withdrew from Europe just when ing Big Bear camp, have become so we were most needed; partly becapitalization of Europe by American money will give America permanently a hold on European afalways assumed themselves) nat- knowledge of the alleged conditions recent friends, who pushed a new a discharged employe and acquaintance too fast and quarrelwe have drawn apart in feeling feeling, said the sheriff. at the very time when the facts draw us closer together in interest.

FINALLY, of course, facts prevail. So IT is time for us, if we can, to analyze the prevalent cheap slogans into their inherent meaningless, and face the facts. Those facts bind us and Europe, not in a common love, unless we please, but in a common interest, Economic forces will operate, no matter how often we vote to reverse them, and their consequences will follow, no matter how persistently we defy them. Proclaimed the world over as the greatest achievement in Chevrolet history, today's Chevrolet is climbing to new heights of popularity. A single ride will tell you why. Into the field of low-priced cars, today's Chevrolet brings exactly the slowspeed smoothness, exactly the velvet acceleration, exactly the freedom from high-speed vibration that have been the paramount reasons for the buying of multiple-cylinder cars. Imagine loafing up a hill in a loaded car—with the motor turning so easily -so smoothly-that you are almost unconscious of its operation. You can in the smooth Chevrolet!

Imagine rushing from 10 to 30 miles an hour before your watch ticks ten times—with never the semblance of la bor on the part of the motor. You can in the smooth Chevrolet!

Imagine being able to drive between 40 and 50 miles an hour for hour upon tirely free from any sense of excessive speed and unconscious of even the slightest roughness in the road. You can in the smooth Chevrolet.

No matter what type of car you are accustomed to driving, learn for yourself the incredible smoothness that is winning the world to Chevrolet. Arrange to see and drive this car today!

Compare the excellence of detail exhibited in the coach work of the beautiful Fisher enclosed bodies. Compare its performance abilities on any basis with any car you have ever driven. Try it in traffic—over the hills through clinging mud and sand. We openly ask you to come for your demonstration in a critical state of mind. And we urge you to come prepared for a ride the like of which you never dreamed possible in a car at anywhere near Chevrolet's low prices.

For that's exactly what you will discover at the wheel of the smoothest Chevrolet in hour at a stretch—in perfect comfort, en-

You're Free From Blow-out Troubles When Your Tires Can Do This

You could say good-bye to blow-out troubles forever if the tires on your car would meet the test below accomplished by

A Samson Super Service Cord, blown up and mounted on an auto wheel was dropped 120 feet on an iron lamp post.

The lamp post snapped like a match, but the tire was uninjured in any way. The same tire has been retested several times without the slightest harm, the original air remaining in the tire.

This shows how you profit from stage line construction. The excess strength of the carcass will withstand the severe shocks of rough roads and severe usage, without blow-outs or rupture. You get longer mileage and uninterrupted service.

COUNTY PROPERTY VALUES INCREASE SIX MILLIONS IN LAST YEAR, REPORT SHOWS

Orange county property valuations are virtually back at the peak stablished in 1924, before the "freeze" and the slump in oil production was ascertained today from official figures presented by County Auditor W. C. Jerome.

Total assessed valuation of the county is $152,611,450, a sum within less than $2,000,000 of the high-water mark of 1924, when the total was $154,244,900. It is nearly $6,000,000 above the valuation of last year,

Jerome's figures, which are the segregated and corrected totals of assessment valuations turned over to the county supervisors by Assessor James Sleeper, on July 1, form the basis for preparing the tax rates of the county and the various school and special districts for 1926-7. Budgets for the districts now are being turned in, the auditor stated.

The tax rate will not be officially set until September.

The return of valuations to the former level followed a drop in 1925, when orchard valuations were reduced by the assessor because of claim by people that law enforcefrost losses, and oil valuations went down. In many sections of the ment in this country has become death. Our business is to see that county, the recovery has been more than complete, various districts slack. and cities showing a gain over 1924. Do It Better and Easier an L. C. SMITH

The remarkable system of ball bearings throughout the working parts of an L. C. Smith Typewriter, make for long and efficient service. The friction is eliminated and the wear that results from friction is reduced to a minimum. The parts of an L. C. Smith, therefore, do not become worn and loose. The work of the L. C. Smith is uniformly good, not for a few months—but so long as the machine is used. With a machine such as this, the fatigue of operating is greatly relieved and a better and more satisfactory day's work is accomplished. If you don't KNOW this, give this remarkable machine a trial and learn the truth.

Thirty-One Points of Superiority Combine to Give You a Perfect and Continual Typewriter Service

We should like to point out to you the thirty-one real reasons why you should use the L. C. Smith typewriter. Let us mention some of them:

When writing capitals the type, not the carriage, shifts.

The decimal tabulator is an inbuilt part of the machine. It enables the operator to write units under units, tens under tens, etc., in columns, and as many columns may be written on a sheet as desired. It is also used for special indentation, for salutations, paragraphs, etc.

Changing ribbons on an L. C. Smith is the simplest thing imaginable.

The line-finder on the L. C. Smith enables the operator to remove and re-insert the paper in its exact former position. It is possible on this machine to place a letter or character in any desired spot on the sheet.

The L. C. Smith is so constructed that the platen, or roll can be easily and quickly removed and another put in its place. Anyone can do this in a few seconds and without tools. This is especially desirable where more than one character of work is desirable on the one machine.

The advantages of using such a machine will be perfectly apparent to any operator who will take the trouble to investigate. The operator who is not thoroughly familiar with this machine and who does not know all the things that can be done on it, is missing an opportunity to be of greater service to her employer.

Dozens of the best business houses in this town are equipped with the L. C. Smith. Next time you see one, ask the owner what he thinks of it.

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—New record highs in General Motors, U. S. Steel and Atchison were the outstanding features of the opening session of the week. With these stocks recognized as the most representative issues of their classes coming to unprecedented prices, the whole market was stimulated to extreme buoyancy.

Buying orders came into the street in heavy volume from all parts of the country and trading was, in many respects, the healthiest the financial district has ever witnessed.

Buying activities were largely concentrated in issues strengthened by substantial earning and good prospects, a factor which encourages conservative interests, including the underlying soundness of the present forward movement.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—It was a big day for the bulls on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Grain prices climbed slowly and surely from a steady opening to a close that was well obove that of Saturday in all positions. Corn was especially strong. Good commission house buying and short covering enabled wheat to close $\frac{9}{2}$ to $\frac{4}{3}$ cents higher in all positions. There was a very substantial increase reported in the visible supply but this was of $\frac{4}{3}$ set by the unchanged weather conditions in all sections of the belt and the higher cables.

Corn closed sharply higher, having registered gains of 1 to $4\frac{9}{3}$ cents on all positions, the May delivery gaining most.

Mansfield, rated one of the best pitchers in the entire Southland, will do the flinging for the Lee Fountain team. It was his sterling slab work that put the Lee team in the running after it had gotten away to a poor start in the last American Legion league. Mansfield is an Englishman and at one time was a cricket player of more or less renown. It was at this game that he learned to heave the spheroid with such accuracy and speed.

The fast Blauer team that won first honors in the first American Legion league this summer has entered its team in the new league and is expected to set up a terrific pace in an endeavor to repeat its former victory. Why Pay For Pleasure?

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON Extravagance has us by the throat. There is no use of dodging the issue, the high cost of living is due to the high cost of wantingand having.

A woman from a city said to a woman in a small town, "No wonder you people can save! You think you are tempted, but you are not. What if you lived in a place where every shop window you passed shouted at you, 'Buy me!'

"Winter and summer the shop keepers lie in wait like trappers. They are always displaying something new, more alluring than the last And when you see everybody else buying things, you don't think you're so awful if you indulge in a few things yourself."

That, and automobiles and movies and so on, make up the story. It is not new. But if everybody is being extravagant, why not adopt Thoreau's scheme and escape from the herd?

This naturalist, who lived on a few cents a year, prided himself, not on his eccentric way of living, but on his ability to escape from an irksome bond. He has been known ever since as the "Man Who Escaped from the Herd."

I am very fond of the old-old things and old ways of doing things. cannot get away from the idea that modern America is chasing the golden fleece. We have it in our heads that life's blessings all cost money and are to be handed to us in neat parcels at our front doors, like hothouse flowers from a florist's shop. Why do we not try to raise a few of the flowers ourselves? Besides, hot-house flowers are expensive, and the others are just as sweet, and cheaper.

A woman of national prominence was addressing a federation of women's clubs. Her subject was, "The Lost Art of Enjoyment." Her talk, to every one's surprise, was on books, open fires, planning a flower garden-walks in the country.

"Ladies," she summed up at the last, "when we have to pay others for entertaining us, we have lost the real art of enjoyment. Pleasure is the cheapest thing in the world. There is more real enjoyment in a beautiful view than in a ten-ree movie. And as for an open fireplace in the winter and a peaceful evening by its side, there is nothing made to which I can compare it." Perhaps our grandparents were not such martyrs after all!

Would you be willing to spend a few minutes today in order to determine exactly what is causing your trouble, if in doing so you are put to no expense and are under no obligation in any way? We are certain you would. Then if you are willing, act at once as it may save you a great deal of suffering later on. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

These observations are taken from a news article appearing in today's Register. Anyone journeying through the southern half or the western portion of the county these days is sure to wonder where in the world all these beans will go.

"Looks as though you had enough limas to feed the world," said an amazed eastern visitor recently. Southern California does not grow all the limas the world. Practically all the limas grown in the

The bean crop is of tremendous importance to our prosperity. Bean growers ought to have the enthusiastic and determined support of residents of the entire county in securing federal aid in the study and solution of their problems, in securing adequate protection against foreign competition and in marketing.

WIDENING OF HIGHWAYS

Widening of highways upon which there is heavy traffic presents itself as an ever present project beore the board of supervisors. The problem is one that will grow more acute as time goes on, for traffic will increase. The opening of new highways paralleling the main thoroughfares has been looked upon as a solution for relief of congestion in certain sections, and, of course, it is. However, the relief, when paralleling has been achieved, has not always been

DEAD DEBTS FOLLOW WAR

The New York World recently made this thoughtprovoking statement about the war debt situation:

"The fundamental reason why these great international war debts cannot be regarded as ordinary remarkable schools and scientific institutions. debts is that they are dead. They do not represent as it goes along the interest and principal to repay the money which was loaned. An ordinary debt is productive for the debtor, but these international debts are like bills submitted to pay for the damage done on a wild party by one's grandfather. The payment seems to the debtor like a pure loss, and when it is paid by one nation to another it seems like tribute.

All of which makes it harder for the creditor to collect even if it does not necessarily justify cancellation of the debts. Quite aside from the collecting Francisco, Hillsborough and the Hollywood Bowl. phase of the discussion, however, is the point which needs to be made over and over again—that war expenditures are dead expenditures. The vast sums spent for war are not investments; they simply go out like burned money.

It is just one of many arguments against avoidable

TOO MANY WAR MEMORIALS

The erection of American war memorials in France and Belgium has already been considerably overdone. Recently Gen. Pershing urged that the tendency to indiscriminate placing of such monuments be curbed. Now the American battle monuments commission has made its annual report, confirming all that Pershing of it said and adding some observations of its own.

It is perfectly proper, as everyone, including Gen. Pershing, admits, to maintain the American war cemeteries and to have a few suitable monuments to our scatter war memorials indiscriminately through the war zone.

This is as it should be. It is always easy enough to declare an open season and permit hunters to kill off the excess numbers of these wild animals. It is never easy to restore them after they have been exterminated.

Train for Thinking

Members of the Sacramento Kiwanis club who flivvered on a list of questions sprung on them by an assistant superintendent of school need not feel wnhearted. The questions were supposed to constitute an intelligence test. But they were questions on matters of fact and so were not a test of intelligence.

Neither intelligence nor education rests on remembering a great number of facts. A man may United States, however, are grown along the coasts be exceedingly intelligent and yet, for one reason of of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange another, not have a large stock of information. And and San Diego counties, with Ventura and Orange as to education-would you dare to say that there was ever a man with a mind better trained than Aristotle's? But Aristotle's information was scant compared with that of a modern wideawake high school boy.

The importance of education is that it trains, or should train, the mind to know where to find facts, to recognize them, weigh them and reason from This is the lima bean's greatest year. Late rains in them. It is unimportant to have a great mass of goodly quantity have assured heavy production on facts stored in your mind unless you know where to find them when you need them and know what do with them. It is of no consequence whether ou remember the algebra you learned in school is of consequence that algebra trains your mind to reason in an orderly and accurate way.

Yet information has its uses. The general public so frequently criticized as gullible, is not so because is unintelligent but because it lacks information the subjects for which it falls. Your demagogue banks on that. He knows he can get away with his bunkum because his audience hasn't enough accurate information to be able to contradict him.

But information is not intelligence. Neither is it education. The educated mind is a mind trained to think. Schools fail unless they give that training.

Auto Money Returned Oakland Tribune

That the business of handling California's millions of automobile registrations is being conducted in an economic way is revealed in the fact that the head of the Motor Vehicle Department has been able to turn back into the State Treasury, in the three years of his service, more than three millions dolars saved from the amount allotted by law.

In three and a half years the number of registrations for operated automobiles in the State has ncreased by 2,983,247 over those in the three prev ous years. Calvin Coolidge is back in the old home—the home of his boy hood. Forgotten, for the time being, are pomp and power and circumstance of greatness. Just Calvin Coolidge, the human being the grown-up boy-back there in old Vermont, amid the hills, dreaming of the days when he was a care-free boy. A Cloudburst at Yuma

Dr. Mabel Vance and her mother, that the rains have started in Ari- the Southwest. But it is only rare zona. For strange as it may seem to native Californians, the summer is the rainy season with our southeastern neighbor. And don't think it can't rain in Arizona. Dry as that state is, when the weather wishes it can pour down the water in a way we know nothing about in California. The big drops strike with a flop. It is not uncommon to see the birds too wet to fly after a 15-minute shower.

It is that sort of rain that makes a cloudburst. But it takes more than water to produce the effect we call a cloudburst. Desert conditions are necessary. The same amount of rain that makes a cloudburst in Arizona would not make one in heavily forested coastal Oregon. A cloudburst is nothing but the product of a heavy shower falling on barren hillsides. On bare slopes, particularly if they are of rock, the rainwater shoots off into the gulches to form a flood almost in the twinkling of an eye. If the area of the shower happens to coincide with a considerable system of small gulches all running into one larger one, it may result in flood comparable to the bursting of a big dam. You can be shown places where cloudbursts have
